city, has nevertheless very naturally agitated Liver with those insured against fire as to the probable safety of their risks. It will certainly not add to their comfort when the naked truth of fire insurance liabilities is told. Yet, like everything else, when steamboats or railway trains, for instance, for many years pursue their roads in safety, the awful crash of an accident becomes the exception; nor does it deter the travelling community from running the same risk with a feeling of comparative safety. In the first place there seems to be no rule in fire insurance of the amount of risk taken as to the proportion of capital paid up or held. Thus, for instance, some of the very best offices have a liability of nearly forty times their capital. The Ætna Company gives her statement on the 1st of January, 1871: Gross assets, $5,782,635; amount of risk on 1st of January, 1871; $237,874,573; yet this office is perfectly able to meet its liabilities. The total capital of all the fire insurance companies in the United States is:

with assets of $45,000,000. Considering that for the last generation the insurance companies have really only been called upon twice to make good a loss of over $10,-000,000 at one time in one place-viz., the fire in '35 and '45-we must confess that, as a general thing, fire insurance is a lucrative business, as there is no business that can do fifty times the amount of its investment in a year. The above figures do not include the foreign offices, which insure very heavily. The American Branch of the Loudon and Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company had on December 31, 1869, $90,936,126 fire risks, and the risks during the year written besides this was $220,302,506, or a total of $311,238,632. These gigantic figures certainly remind one of the distance to some planetary body, or the amount of yards of cotton fabrics manufactured in Manchester, yet, with all the safety of this immense property, upon which the pros-perity of a whole nation depends, has very justly been looked upon as safe and secure. It must, however, not be supposed that the surviving insurance companies will very long feel the loss sustained in Chicago, as it can easily be seen by our very figures that the increase of premium, which some have already put in force, of only 30 per cent., will give the total corporations in the United States, $12,000,000 additional premiums, and consequently profits. The dry goods store in Maine and the cotton press in New Orleans will alike be called upon

A venerable quack used always to locate his patient's diseases in the pericardium. Perhaps it is something in the structure of the pericardium that makes a man a bore. The symptoms are curious. The echo in the head is one of them. When a man's sentences turn again upon themselves, repeating themselves or revolving about the same points, he has the disease. His punctuation becomes deranged. The commas are long and the periods have all dropped out. It is of no use to hint to him that you are bored. That is embarrassing; and the more he is embarrassed the less able is he to leave. He rises up in his chair; he is about to go. You feel relieved. The nightmare is to disappear. But he detects the radiance in your face, and in a minute he settles back again. He feels that he cannot bear to leave an unfavorable impression on you. He must stay longer and remove it. He starts the same old train of talk. You feel sorry for him, for a bore is always an object of pity. He wants to get away, but he has not courage enough to make the effort. There is no good stopping place in his talk, no cadence in his conversation. He is feeling round for the note that will make an appropriate close, but he never strikes it. He rises and stands. But he is so encouraged to have gotton so far, that he begins again. Then he goes through another half-hour of endeavor to find a suitable peroration. There is an aggravated form of the disease in which the subject is known as "the door-knob bore." He hangs himself on the knob, and always thinks of something at the moment when he is making a motion toward leaving, that brings him back again. Do not utter inner maledictions against him when he is gone. Poor fellow! He has used up some hours of your time, but he has wasted a lifetime of his own. Dickens describes him which will be sold at one-half the cost of manuwhen he says that he has the dry-rot. Avoid | facture. him, dodge him, tremble when you see him. But pity him.

▲ WITH INTEREST: Under date of April 26th, 1871, Dr. HENRY J. ROGERS, 68 Sharp street, Baltimore, an eminent physician, writes regarding CRYSTAL DISCOVERY: "It affords me much pleasure to hear testimony as to the efficacy of your Crystal Discovery. Some years since, while in India, I suffered from a severe fever peculiar to the country. On my recovering, a patch of hair on the left side of my head became perfectly white, without at all afhead became perfectly white, without at all affecting the remainder. To remove this unsightly appearance, I had recourse to various preparations, both in Europe and in this country; but they all had one great defect—they dyed the hair black. Now, with your Crystal Discovery, my hair being dark brown. I consider your Discovery the best preparation I know of.

Yours truly

Yours truly, HENRY J. ROGERS. Now as the fact becomes more patent every day that the various dirty and filthy preparations advertised as Renewers, Restoratives, &c., are to contribute to the loss of the insurance offices but compounds of Sugar of Lead and Sulphur, sustained by the Chicago fire.—N. Y. World. and therefore should be shunned by all who value their health, it is scarcely a matter of surprise that the demand for NATTANS' CRYS | signees on arrival. It restores the color and growth of the hair positively in a few days; strengthens the roots, makes an excellent dressing, soiling neither clothes nor scalp; but on the contrary it gives the scalp a pure and cleanly look, removing all dandruff and scurf. It is the most economical preparation in use. Put up in large bottles, at one dollar.

Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadted consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened.
